Chelsea supporter sets aside football rivalry to thank lifesaving Evertonian who donated his bone marrow for vital transplant

by Holly Rummens

A CHELSEA fan is putting his football rivalries aside this week as he celebrates his five year anniversary of the success of his bone marrow transplant after an Everton supporter helped save his life.

Paul Walshe, 41, was diagnosed with leukaemia in 2007, and doctors told him that a bone marrow transplant was his last chance of survival. Unknown to him, Merseyside resident Andy Mitchell had joined the Anthony Nolan bone marrow register in 2006 after seeing a television appeal for new donors.

Blood cancer charity Anthony Nolan uses its register to match potential bone marrow donors with blood cancer patients in desperate need of a bone marrow transplant.

Andy, 40, from Orrell Park, was told that he was a match for a patient in February 2008, and donated his bone marrow six months later. Last December, he received a Christmas card from his recipient, thanking him for his act of selflessness. Andy, who now volunteers for Anthony Nolan said: "We had to remain anonymous for the first two years after Paul's transplant, but when Anthony Nolan told me that my recipient wanted to meet me, I agreed straightaway. Because football is so important to both of us, I took him to Goodison Park to watch Everton play Chelsea and we've been friends ever since."

Paul, from London, added: "Five years ago, I was about to have my bone marrow transplant, knowing that it was my only chance of a cure, of having a future with my wife, family and friends. Five years later I've just spent an hour chatting to my donor. Andy says that donating has completely changed his life – but it saved mine."

Anthony Nolan particularly needs more young men aged 16–30 to join the register. Potential donors can sign up at www.anthonynolan.org, where they will need to fill in a short application form and provide a saliva sample.

ANFIELD & WALTON'S FREE WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

£150m retail Investment for Great Homer Street

Report by Holly Rummens

LONG awaited plans to redevelop part of North Liverpool has been announced as part of a £150 million investment.

The Great Homer Street development, also known as Project Jennifer will see the city's largest Sainsbury's store created along with new market facilities, homes and a 900 space free car park as well as improved links to Everton Park.

The announcement came after the scheme was awarded full consent from Liverpool City Council on Tuesday August 27, nearly a full decade after the plans were published.

Work on the site is expected to begin in spring 2014 with regeneration specialists St. Modwen carrying out the refurbishment plans, which is estimated to create 1,000 new jobs. Following an initial phase of site preparation works, it is understood that development of the Sainsbury's store will begin in Spring 2015 and open early 2016, with the entire scheme due to complete in Autumn 2016. Further phases of development will follow in the Marwood Tower and Dryden Street areas.

Stephen Prosser, regional director at St. Modwen, said: "We are delighted that this scheme, which is both needed and wanted by the local community, is moving forwards towards actual delivery on site. The attainment of this detailed permission is the next important step forward and is testament to the positive support the scheme continues to enjoy. We are committed to delivering this scheme for the people of North Liverpool."

Liverpool City Council's Cabinet Member for Regeneration said: "Project Jennifer is an important progression for North Liverpool and will regenerate an area in real need of investment and development."

Firearms found in Fazakerley

Report by Holly Rummens

A FIREARM and ammunition have been found in Fazakerley fields.

A search carried out by Detectives from the forces Matrix team discovered the firearm in Blueberry Fields on Tuesday August 27 at around 8.45am.

The revolver and ammunition have been taken away to be forensically examined.

Detective Superintendent Richie Salter said: "The fact that this gun and ammunition have been taken off our streets and out of circulation is a fantastic result, as they can no longer be used to harm someone in this community."

"We are not complacent when it comes to gun crime and I would encourage members of the public to continue to share any information they have about firearms or those using them with us and, with their help, we can keep guns and ammunition off our streets and put the people who use them behind bars."

A 23-year-old man was arrested in connection with this incident and has since been released without charge.

Anyone who has information about those involved in organised crime or gun crime should call Merseyside Police's Matrix Unit on 0151 777 5687.

New housing is heaven sent

An £800,000 development scheme has seen a derelict church in Walton transformed into eight new family homes.

The former Stuart road Baptist Church off Peter Road in Walton now accommodates six three bedroom houses and one two bedroom bungalow, as well as a new presbytery for the local vicar.

Funding for the project was secured by Liverpool Housing Trust, part of the Symphony Housing Group.

Mick King, managing director of MCI Developments, who carried out the construction on the project said: "We are delighted to have worked with Liverpool Housing Trust to complete this scheme."

"The homes on Stuart Road have been built to the highest standards which will really benefit the tenants."

Another Ginger connection for Grand National!

by Henry James

GINGER-BEER maker Crabbie's has been unveiled as the new official title sponsor of the Grand National and Grand National Festival at Aintree.

Crabbies, owned by Halewood International based in Huyton, already has a close relationship with Merseyside.

The firm's founder, the late John Halewood, lived in Southport, and also owned the Ginger McCain-trained Amberleigh House, who won the 2004 Grand National and the 2001 Becher Chase.

The three-year deal between Crabbie's and Aintree will see the world's most famous steeplechase run for a £1 million purse for the first time.

The Grand National is one of the crown jewel events in British sport and provides Crabbie's with a platform to reach a UK terrestrial television audience of around nine million on Channel 4 and an estimated 600 million people worldwide, as well as more than 150,000 people over the three days of the Crabbie's Grand National Festival from Thursday 3 to Saturday, April 5 2014.

The partnership renews Crabbie's owner, Halewood International's, longstanding relationship with Aintree and racing on a wider level. Southport-born McCain also trained Red Rum on the town's beach. Red Rum won the Grand National three times.

John's partner and now chairwoman of Halewood International, Judy Halewood is delighted with the sponsorship and that the family connection with the Grand National and racing continues to grow. In the event's proud history, Judy is the only female trainer to have bred, owned and trained a runner with her horse Harley finishing 12th in the 1991 race.

Judy Halewood chairwoman of Halewood International with Amberleigh House

As part of the deal, Crabbie's receives naming rights for the three races over the Grand National fences during the meeting: the Crabbie's Fox Hunters' Chase (Thursday, Grand Opening Day), the Crabbie's Topham Chase (Friday, Ladies' Day) and the Crabbie's Grand National (Saturday, Grand National Day).

Halewood International's deputy chairman Peter Eaton, said: "It has always been the family's ambition to sponsor the Grand National and we are very excited to have this opportunity. With the joint partnership of Crabbie's, Aintree and the Jockey Club, it's our aim to take the Grand National to another level.

"The Grand National is a unique race with massive global reach and represents a perfect partnership for Crabbie's and our UK and international ambitions."

Life saving equipment donated to Alder Hey in memory of Simon

Simon Harris.

Code NA

A LIFE saving piece of equipment has been donated to Alder Hey in memory of Simon Harris, a Formby resident who died after a 20 year heart battle.

This year Simon would be turning 21, after fighting a complex heart disorder, and undergoing constant heart surgery from just five days old, he still managed to lead a good quality of life his family never thought possible.

He attended Formby High School and later went on to study Drama at Liverpool Hope University for two years before he unexpectedly died after undergoing heart surgery at the age of 20.

To commemorate his birthday and year anniversary since his death Simon's family and friends used their fundraising efforts to purchase an anticoagi – warfarin machine for the heart clinic at Alder Hey Children's Hospital.

Simons mother, Wendy Harris said: "Simon left a lasting impression on all he met and we are overwhelmed at the fundraising and donations that have been given in his name.

"There have been sponsored walks, tribute nights and a Santa dash to name a few, the charities that have benefited are the British Heart Foundation, Children's Heart Federation and a charity close to Simons heart, as he was an active member is Hearts4Teens who have received over £3000 so far in donations."

Since his death in July last year ongoing awards have been set up to honour his name. The Performing Arts awards for best student will be awarded at Formby High presentation evening and Liverpool Hope University have a prize award for most positive contribution to third year single honours that will be presented every year at their graduation.

Wendy added: "Simon lived life to the full, he always looked on the bright side and he looked out and cared for everybody and never let his illness get him down.

"His passion was drama, he had a raw talent, a wicked sense of humour, was always up to mischief and always managed to make us smile, these are the things that help to get us through the difficult times."

Simon's parents Wendy and John and Brother Neil said: "We would like to take this opportunity to thank family and friends for their endless support during this awful year. Thank you for your kind donations and fundraising. We are so proud of him we love and miss him dearly, he has left such a legacy."

It's an act of vandalism...

Report by Ollie Cowan

Crime chief furious at plans to close North Liverpool Justice Centre

MERSEYSIDE'S Police and Crime Commissioner is challenging plans by the Ministry of Justice to close down the North Liverpool Criminal Justice Centre and move the workload to South Sefton Magistrates'.

Former Labour MP Jane Kennedy branded the plans as an 'act of vandalism' in a letter penned to the Minister for Victims and the Court, Helen Grant, and she asked her not to proceed with any plans to close the Kirkdale centre.

"I was deeply concerned that you made this announcement," Kennedy wrote, "as Parliament went into recess and the summer holiday period commenced."

"This made it difficult to take the views of many local stakeholders."

"Furthermore, the proposal to transfer the work of the Centre to Sefton Magistrates' Court deserves much more thought as it is not at all clear how the cultures of two quite different courts could be merged."

"I understand that there is some thought being given to the court locations across the county of Merseyside due to the reduction in workload being experienced and I do not understand how the NLCJC can be singled out for closure at this time."

"I am unconvinced by the proposal that the move of the workload to Sefton could be done in a way that meets the needs of its' service users."

Benefit

"This Centre has been an enormous benefit to north Liverpool and the communities it serves."

"I have seen the impact that dedicated teams of staff, drawn from criminal justice partner agencies, can have on the offending behaviour of some of the most troublesome and prolific offenders."

"Unless this proposal is carefully thought through, and time taken to decide how the Centre should be developed within the constraints of the reduced workload of all the courts, I believe you will commit an act of unnecessary vandalism if you proceed now."

The North Liverpool Community Justice Centre was set up by the then Labour government in 2005 and promised a new and more effective way to administer justice. The Jane Kennedy is the new Merseyside PCC.

Centre came about after the then Lord Chief Justice (Lord Woolf) visited the Red Hook Centre, Brooklyn, New York in 2002. The Home Secretary (David Blunkett) visited in 2003. Both were impressed and a decision was made to establish a similar centre in the UK.

However, North Liverpool, based in a former secondary school on Boundary Lane in Kirkdale at a start up cost of £5.2m, was the only court centre built on that model.

Turn of events for Anfield ticket holders

Queues outside Anfield stadium following new automatic turnstiles. Code NA

Queues outside Anfield stadium 10 minutes into kick off. Code NA

RECENT developments at Anfield Stadium has sparked major criticism amongst Liverpool supporters visiting the ground.

Over the summer, Liverpool Football Club have installed new automatic turnstiles to enter the ground, however after their first home game of the season against Stoke City fans experienced problems trying to get through.

Supporters with 'active' season tickets or membership cards were unable to pass through the turnstiles, in spite of the card reader accepting their cards and showing a green light, resulting in a build up of queues around the surrounding area.

Liverpool Supporters Club, Spirit of Shankly voiced their concerns to the club explaining the importance of the issue and how it needs to be resolved before the next game.

A spokesperson for the club said: "These problems have meant that hundreds of supporters missed up to 20 minutes of the game, it has also led to some safety issues.

"We are concerned that this has revealed the fragmented nature of crowd management at Anfield. Stewards at unstaffed turnstiles have no manual override facility, meaning that in the event of a build up of crowds they would not be able to allow supporters at the front to pass through the turnstiles more quickly."

Liverpool's response during a LFC supporters meeting created further confusion for the supporters club, which advised them to seek fan support stewards if the error occurs again and they will re-validate membership cards.

Liverpool FC spokesperson said: "The club acknowledges that a number of fans experienced some difficulties accessing the new turnstiles during the Stoke game and would like to apologise for any inconvenience caused.

"We also acknowledge some comments made by a member of staff during the LFC Supporters' Committee meeting the following day were not helpful in this regard and would apologise for this.

"Subsequently, we have carried out an investigation into the various issues that were experienced for this game and have resolved the issue regarding the turnstiles, resulting in smoother access during the Manchester Utd match."

MP hits back at offensive desolate North comments

Paul Nuttall from UKIP says Lord Howell's telling remarks are out of order

Report by Danielle Thompson

A MP from Bootle has hit back at claims by Lord Howell that the 'desolate' North should be used for fracking.

Paul Nuttall (Pictured) from UKIP North West said: "It seems Lord Howell is neither good at geography nor diplomacy. He has managed to upset folk in the North East and the North West and dig himself into a big hole.

"A fracking hole to be precise as he does not want the search for shale gas to take place in 'beautiful rural areas' of the South but in 'large, uninhabited and desolate areas' up North.

North South Divide

"So the North-South divide is still firmly in existence then, well certainly for those living in ivory castles south of Watford. I found it rather telling that those remarks came from the father-in-law of George Osborne, that well known man of the people.

"We must not turn our backs on the possibilities offered by fracking though environmental safeguards must be in place.

"Shale gas could halve energy bills in this country but how about only for the people living in the areas where it is extracted. Those in the 'beautiful rural areas' of the South can keep on paying top whack."

Lord Howell, the former Energy Minister, said that he confused the North East and North West in his controversial comments during Lords Questions on Tuesday July 30 when he said: "There are large and uninhabited and desolate areas. Certainly in part of the North East where there's plenty of room for fracking, well away from anybody's residence where we could conduct without any kind of threat to the rural environment."

Cuadrilla

Fracking company Cuadrilla Resources, who plan to frack in Banks in Southport, Blackpool and Sussex, have met protests over fears of gas and water contamination from the process used to extract shale gas.

But UKIP North West Chairman Philip Griffiths believes that the North West should use fracking as an opportunity.

Opportunity

He said: "Energy prices are sky high and an opportunity in the form of fracking has been handed to us, which could result in halving energy prices – as it has in the USA, and yet certain groups are now objecting to it.

"While I can understand people's concerns, and we all want to be sure that the fracking process is quite safe, it would appear that they have been hi-jacked by the usual "swampy" type militant agitators that will protest against anything that might improve our lives and save us all some money.

"The man in the street should not be taken in by the scare mongering tactics of these minority groups."

GPs' practices 'will listen to patients' views'

HEALTHWATCH Sefton has gathered local people's experiences of a number of GP practices in the borough in a bid to find out how to improve service.

Residents have shared comments about local GPs with the Healthwatch organisation, who will then identify any themes or trends and independently feed comments back to the practices.

Healthwatch Sefton chair Maureen Kelly said: "We're delighted that these local practices have listened to patients and are pleased with the valuable comments included in our reports. One of the main aims of Healthwatch Sefton is to ensure the views of patients and general public are heard and they work across all areas of health and social care including hospitals, care homes, GPs and pharmacies."

Pinochet coup torture victim to speak at 'Chilean 9/11' event

Report by Danielle Thompson

A MAN who was imprisoned and tortured under the Chilean military dictatorship of General Pinochet is flying to Crosby to talk about his ordeal on the 40th anniversary of the military coup.

Javier Navarro will provide a personal testimony of his experiences at the 'Chilean 9/11' evening at the Crosby's Plaza Community Cinema on Wednesday, September 11. Mr Navarro who has family links with Liverpool, was exiled in the area for a period following the coup.

The event has been organised by Sefton branch of UNISON in partnership with the Plaza, and will include archive film from 1970-1973, showing how the Allende government which was overthrown had introduced extensive social reform and how there was also a cultural flowering as Chilean people were able to express themselves creatively.

To reflect this, the evening will also offer insights into the music of Victor Jara and the poetry of Pablo Neruda and there will be Chilean music with a cultural commentary provided by the Francisco Carasco quartet. Chilean food and wine will be offered by people from the Merseyside Chilean community.

The event will be streamed live to trade unionists throughout the world and has added significance because Liverpool dock-workers offered support to Chilean workers in 1973 by boycotting goods for export and many Liverpudlians provided accommodation for political exiles. The event will start at 7pm and tickets are £2. For more information contact Christine Physick on 0151 9281530

Cycling cops complete 54-hour relay event

by Danielle Thompson

FIVE policemen have cycled the length, breadth and height of the UK to raise almost £2,000 for a children's charity.

The 'Cops Cycle for Kids' officers rode almost 1,000 miles from Lands End to John O'Groats on a non-stop 54-hour relay which followed a 150 miles 'Coast to Coast' ride earlier this year.

Police traffic officers Dan Holdsworth, 44, from Southport, along with Gareth Olley, 33, who organised the event, his brother George Olley, 34, Andy Coward, 47, and Mat Shaw, 34, who work together in Maghull, raised the money for critically ill children and their families who use the Ronald McDonald House at Alder Hey Hospital in Liverpool.

At least two of the team were riding at any one time for two-hour staggered 'shifts' right through the day and night until they reached the famous white post.

Since March, the team have conquered the highest road in the UK by climbing over 2,500ft up the Great Dun Fell near Penrith, then rode over 100 miles home before going Coast to Coast from Cumbria, through the Lake District and over the Pennines, to Whitby, as well as a lap of the Isle of Anglesey and a 100mile ride from Liverpool to Chester and back.

Gareth Olley said: "Due to annual leave restrictions within our job, we were limited on time to complete this challenge, so we came up with the idea of doing it in a non-stop relay with a target time of 72 hours!"

"We completed the ride and, incredibly, it only took us just over 54 hours with somebody cycling through every minute of the day from the moment we left Lands End!"

All of the officers have met children treated by Alder Hey Hospital, either through their job as officers or in their private lives.

Dan's son Alexander underwent life-threatening surgery at Alder Hey Hospital when he was just 14 months old, before making a full recovery.

Gareth, who has been an officer for 12 years, has a young son who has recently been referred to Alder Hey Hospital, along with close friends who have recently required the help and support offered by the Ronald McDonald House. And Mat, who has been an officer for six years, was treated at Alder Hey Hospital twice as a young child.

The cyclists were supported by four drivers during the ride – Dave Parker and Dave Fitzsimon, both traffic officers at Maghull, Mike Olley, George and Gareth's father, who was a police officer for 31 years, and Rob Harris, a close friend of Olley who required the support of the Ronald McDonald House when his daughter was critically ill with meningitis in 2011.

The team were sponsored by The Belfry Group, who provided vehicles, fuel and a team kit for the events and supported by drinks company Beet-It Sport and specialist wheel builder Pete Matthews who gave them spare wheels.

• This Saturday (September 7), the officers are hosting a charity raffle night at the Fat Olive in Ormskirk, sponsored by The Bicycle Lounge bike shop in Ormskirk.

To buy tickets contact Maghull Police Station on 0151 777 3723 or donate at justgiving.com/CopsCycleForKids

Refurbished Notre Dame opens for new school term

Report by Holly Rummens

THE rebuilt Notre Dame Catholic College in Everton Valley is set to open for the new term after a £15 million project.

The new design incorporates the heritage of Everton Valley including the former chapel's stained glass windows as well as boasting state of the art science, computer and design space.

While the college already has an established existing Humanities department, it will be enhanced by a purpose built geology laboratory and multi wall projection unit allowing the students to a greater learning experience.

The college will also host two separate auditoriums and two recording studios as well a state of the art Music Hub which currently facilitates music tuition and programmes for musicians across Liverpool.

All students are also provided with their own personal notebook or iPad to cut down on waste materials and create an eco friendly centre for students and teachers.

The new school is also co-located with Everton Park Sports Centre and will provide staff and students with access to a Lifestyles gym, swimming pool, sports hall, exercise studios and newly installed, external 3G sports pitches.

Mrs Frances Harrison, headteacher at Notre Dame Catholic College said: "Attention to detail, throughout the design process, has focused upon ensuring the spirit of Notre Dame is carried over into the new building with an emphasis upon spaces that support good working relations, high quality education and a strong community that lie at the heart of the Notre Dame vision."

Kop star Gerrard joins VisitBritain campaign

Report by Holly Rummens

VisitBritain have renewed their on going partnership with the Barclays Premier League to create one of the biggest football campaigns in its history.

This years promotion will star Liverpool and England captain, Steven Gerrard which aims to take advantage of the worlds most watched football league.

The organisation recorded that almost 1 million football supporters visit Britain every year, spending £700 million so this latest campaign has been created to take advantage of the international pre seasons tours taken by clubs like Liverpool.

Joss Croft, marketing

VisitBritains biggest tourist campaign in history.

Code NA

director at VisitBritain said: "it's a perfect partnership to attract the millions who follow football around the world, particularly the younger audiences in Asia. We are interested in building on the League's global appeal.

"The Barclays Premier League plays an important role in promoting Britain around the world. The competition is broadcast in 212 territories and into 804 million homes around the globe, making it the most watched football league in the world. This season sees clubs from across England and Wales competing, so we've put everything behind it to make it the biggest campaign we've run."

A fully integrated campaign, with the tagline, Take Me There, will include player interviews, options to book breaks, information on tourist attractions near stadiums and a season-long digital game to win a trip to Britain.

Fined after swearing at cop

A MAN who played loud music in his car while beeping his horn in the early hours of the morning has been fined.

Michael Toner, 40, of Dale Acre Drive, Bootle, was found by police sitting in the car on his drive-way at 1am on August 5.

When he got out he was said to have been unsteady on his feet and was slurring his words, so that the officer "could not understand what he was saying".

When remonstrated with he swore at the officer, claiming he had not done anything wrong, following which he was arrested for being drunk and disorderly.

He was fined £80.

Runners urged to compete for Red Cross

Runners will compete in Paris in April

Report by Danielle Thompson

RUNNERS are being urged to compete for the British Red Cross in the world famous Paris Marathon in April.

Senior fundraiser for the Red Cross, Alexis Fairclough, who lives in Crosby said: "We have a limited number of guaranteed places available in what is undoubtedly one of the biggest and most popular marathons in Europe. The reasonably flat course means the Paris Marathon is perfect for complete novices and experienced runners alike. So why not join Team Red Cross and experience this beautiful and historic city in a truly memorable way? It would be fantastic to have some Crosby Runners running for Team Red Cross next year!"

The British Red Cross is a global voluntary network that helps people in crisis, responding to conflicts, natural disasters and individual emergencies, helping them to recover and move on with their lives when the crisis is over.

Full support will be given to all of our runners every step of the way. As a member of Team Red Cross you will receive dedicated one-to-one support from the organisation, including nutritional plans and training advice; a fundraising pack full of helpful tips and advice to help you reach your sponsorship target and a coveted Red Cross running vest.

Sally Withington, who ran in the Paris Marathon this year for Team Red Cross said: "It truly felt like a triumph! The whole experience was wonderful and I was thrilled with both achievements – raising the sponsorship and completing the marathon!"

It costs £100 to register and the Red Cross ask that you aim to raise £1000.

Places are allocated on a first come, first served basis.

Firefighters strike threat

by Holly Rummens

MERSEYSIDE fire fighters could be taking part in a national strike over what they claim is the governments 'unworkable' pension scheme.

Nearly 80% of Fire Brigade Union (FBU) members voted in favour of a national strike which could lead to the first walkout in a decade.

Fire fighters in Merseyside will be unable to get their full pension until they reach the retirement age of 60 under new government plans, but the FBU argues that many fire fighters will not be able to maintain fitness standards into their late 50s which could endanger the public, and those who retire early could lose out on thousands of pounds of pension money a year.

FBU general secretary Matt Wrack said: "We cannot expect large numbers of fire fighters in their late-50s to fight fires and rescue families without creating danger to the public and fire fighters."

"We have repeatedly raised safety concerns and provided strong evidence to back it up but the government just isn't listening. This result is a clear indication of the anger felt by fire fighters. It's still not too late for common sense to prevail if the government are willing to return to the negotiating table.

"None of us want a strike, but we cannot compromise on public and fire fighter safety."

The union has not yet set strike dates and will seek further dialogue with the relevant government ministers and fire service employers in an attempt to resolve the dispute. The government, however, says the existing arrangements are not affordable.

Fire minister Brandon Lewis said: "This government does not believe that industrial action is necessary. The pension on offer to firefighters is one of the most generous in the public sector.

"The FBU is creating a smokescreen around the issues of fitness and retirement age to justify their behaviour whilst ignoring the facts."

"After two years of discussions and improved terms, firefighters will still get one of the most generous public service pensions available – £26,000 a year, when including the £7,000 state pension."

"Someone in the private sector would have to contribute twice as much to get the same pension."

Council urges feedback on Local Plan as deadline approaches.

The Local Plan is a 15-year strategy to encourage economic growth and provide more opportunities for future generations to live and work in the borough. Sefton Council must produce a plan by law and it must aim to meet the borough's development needs for 15 years from the anticipated approval date, which is 2015.

Following an earlier consultation, Sefton has chosen Option 2 to meet needs for housing or jobs. This would plan for 510 new homes a year plus 3 new business parks in the borough.

The Local Plan will eventually be considered by the Government at a public examination. They will decide if the Plan is right and if it provides enough opportunity for new homes, jobs, infrastructure, environmental improvements and other development.

Have Your Say

The council welcomes comments on the draft Local Plan and is keen to hear from you whether you support the Plan or not.

Information events have been taking place since the 12-week public consultation began and more are scheduled in the coming weeks. To make sure of your place, you must book in advance. You will be able to book a one-hour slot for yourself and one other person and there are many spaces available each hour.

All events run from 2pm till 8pm. To allow as many people as possible to attend, you can only book for one event.

It's time for the council to get tough with these inconsiderate dog owners

I read with interest your article on dog fouling and the lack of interest the council seems to show on the subject (Champion, August 7).

Despite the claim that reports by members of the public tend to be rather vague I have reported dog fouling on many occasions to the council and couldn't have been more specific about where it was happening and the times.

If they can't handle the problem – and it is a major problem – then I would suggest that they employ a private contractor to take this task on.

That way it will be possible to have a presence in the areas of concern and, indeed, if it is a private company then they can be performance managed for results and cut down the fouling.

I would say the council would undoubtedly make money as well.

But, like parking, it's not about money it's about doing what we pay our rates for.

The people of the borough demand this service. As your article says this is a nuisance for all concerned. Walking dog muck into your home is not the most pleasant experience, to say the least.

It will be worse during the school holidays as kids who take the dog for a walk instead of the usual adult certainly won't be picking up the mess.

They should make a byelaw that says the dog warden can challenge dog owners to present proof of them having the means to clear up a dog's mess, i.e. a plastic bag.

If they can't, then it is blatant that they do not intend to clean up if the dog does mess and a £20 fine should be put in place for not having the means.

In other words, get tough with these inconsiderate dog owners.

Bryan, by email (details supplied)

Disgusted that bullies forced tree artist to stop

I must express my disgust at the behaviour of bullying youths who have made our tree artist give up on the wonderful work he had done in Victoria Park in Waterloo.

I have watched him at work and the patience and hard work that he has put into each tree is amazing, surely the 'Friends of Victoria Park' can ask him to come back and carry on with the wonderful work he is doing.

I have spoken with some of members the group on another matter a while ago and they sorted that problem out.

Can I also suggest that Sefton Council could use some money to provide a park keeper, like the one we had many moons ago. He knew all the children by name and was very well respected.

I hope that Mr Bouffler will see this letter and reconsider his decision not to carry on with his wonderful talent.

I wish him well and that his health improves.

Car just missed mum and baby

On Sunday, August 18, a young mother with her baby in a baby carrier went to the pedestrian lights near the Northway/Dodds Lane intersection.

She pressed the button, the traffic stopped and the 'little green man' appeared and she started to cross.

At that moment a car came speeding up from Robbins Island direction and through the red light, missing mother and baby by inches.

Fortunately our lovely daughter and beautiful grandson were unhurt though very traumatised and it took most of the day before she could stop shaking and relax.

Unfortunately that driver is probably unaware of what was caused by such blatant breaking of traffic laws.

Our thanks go to the driver who stopped to see if he could be of assistance to her.

There are still plenty of kind thoughtful people around.

Thank you.

Staff to have stake in the Royal Mail

As one of the UK's largest employers, your readers may be interested to understand what the recent announcement by the Government on the Royal Mail Free Shares for employees means for postmen and women and other Royal Mail staff in the North West.

The Government intends to dispose of a majority of its shares in Royal Mail through a flotation of the company.

It will give 10 per cent of all the shares in the business free to eligible Royal Mail employees.

The overwhelming majority of Royal Mail's 150,000 employees in the UK, will be eligible for free shares if they have worked for the company from July 10, 2013.

Eligible employees will automatically receive an equal number of shares, irrespective of their grade. There will be a pro-rata allocation for part-time employees. This means employees will have a meaningful stake in the company.

Stuart Simpson, Royal Mail North West

School should use local firms to do the work

Sefton Council chief executive Margaret Carney has been urging people to use local labour whenever possible.

Obviously the governors of Stanfield School did not take this on board.

If you had looked at the demolition and alterations that are taking place, it looks like a 'who's who' of out of town companies!

As a local resident, I not only have to put up with the inconvenience from the traffic caused by their staff, pupils and parents, but I now have the added insult of looking at a Preston based demolition company carrying out work, while my own demolition/asbestos removal company based in Bootle suffers from a lack of work.

Incidentally, I have written to Merchant Taylors on this matter. To date I have had no reply!

So much for Bedroom Tax helping to save money

Re: Bedroom Tax Shocker story
 Whilst I agree that the 'Bedroom Tax' is appalling and I have personally been affected and have had to move to a smaller property, my issue with this story is with regards to a statement made by Rachel Mills of One Vision Housing.

She says: "To help support these people we've increased our resources, including employing a home swapper officer, additional employment officer and staff to provide advice and assistance."

This is just ONE authority.
 Imagine how many staff have had to be employed around the country – probably hundreds and very likely thousands.

Surely the wages for these people outweigh the benefits to the government from stealing from their tenants?

This makes a mockery of everyone else cutting back. So much for austerity measures, Mr Cameron!

Are You Satisfied With Your Care At Home Provider?

We have spoken with many people receiving care services from other organisations throughout Sefton over the past few months, and found that very few people are 100% happy with the service they receive. All too frequently we hear that carers don't turn up on time, or leave early. In addition to this we hear there is all too often a lack of continuity of care where a different care worker turns up each day.

At Bluebird Care the highest possible standard of service is our number one priority. We do not skimp on service. If you require an hour of care, you get an hour of care. We understand the importance of continuity of care with the same care worker visiting the same customer every time. This enables a friendship and trust to develop allowing both parties to get so much more out of the service than simply practical help.

We do everything we possibly can to ensure 100% satisfaction.

Bluebird Care Provides High Quality Care At Home

Bluebird Care is a provider of "care in the home" with an unrivalled reputation. We specialise in working with customers and their families that require care or support in their own homes throughout Sefton.

We offer a unique service of tailored care visits of 15 minutes, 30 minutes, 45 minutes, 1 hour (or more) to full 24 hour live-in support.

We provide a realistic alternative to residential care enabling you to stay in your own home. Our carers visit you at times to suit you and carry out the tasks that you require in order to stay safe and comfortable in your own home.

You may know someone who would benefit from a 30 minute call in the mornings to assist with washing, dressing and preparing breakfast.

Or someone might require an hour in the evenings to help with an evening meal, shower and preparation for bed.

Some customers simply require a 1 or 2 hour visit once a week to assist with household chores.

Live In Care – for people with more regular needs, a live-in carer is an option. For around the same cost as residential care, it gives you the freedom to receive all the care you will need, in the comfort and familiar surroundings of your own home and community.

Whatever our customers need, we are here to help. The cost is not as much as you might think. Call us today on 01704 832199 for further information or to arrange a meeting with our Care Manager to discuss any requirements in detail.

Our Care Staff

Our care staff are second to none. All are selected primarily for their attitude. They are natural carers, always going the extra mile for someone. They have all chosen careers in care and want to do well and provide the best possible service. They are also selected for their aptitude for learning. They are highly trained, going well beyond minimum standards and highly motivated in continuing to improve their training through our partnerships with NVQ Diploma colleges throughout the region.

Tenants graduate from DIY course

Report by Danielle Thompson

The tenants presenting their certificates
Code NA

TENANTS who completed a DIY skills course have graduated at an awards ceremony in Bootle.

Since February this year, One Vision Housing, which provides social housing across Sefton, has been working closely with the North West Training Council to offer free DIY courses to their tenants.

The programme aimed to provide people with a means to live more independently and become self-sufficient in the care of their homes, while bringing residents together to have a shared sense of pride in their homes.

A total of 36 tenants attended and completed the course, which has taught them a variety of skills, from using measuring and woodworking tools, repairing damaged walls, fixing and filling holes in walls, fitting shelves and skirting boards; and the art of home decoration using their new painting and wallpapering skills.

The graduation ceremony was on Thursday, August 8 at the One Vision head office on Dunning's Bridge Road in Bootle.

During the event, each of the graduates received their certificate from course leader from NWTC, Peter Walsh, who praised their hard work and dedication.

He said: "This new course has been a complete success, with each student keen to use their new skills and confidence to improve their own homes. Some of them have even be inspired to choose DIY and home maintenance as a career path."

One of the learners and One Vision tenant, Katie Balmer, said: "The course was great, I've already started putting it to good use, having removed shelving and repaired walls in my own home. And I've taken advantage of the free tool loan service from NWTC, and will be using them to pave my back garden."

"I enjoyed the course so much that I've just gone on and applied for an apprenticeship as a maintenance operative. This type of role wouldn't have attracted me before I took the course. It's a career choice for women as well as men."

The Switch Island motorway junction

Motorway project to repair potholes

A MOTORWAY project will soon get underway which will target potholes and surface cracks along a 12-mile section of the M58 between its junction with the M57 at Switch Island and junction 26 where it joins the M6 at Orrell.

The £600,000 month-long project by the Highways Agency will be done overnight and will also include renewing road studs and worn road markings.

The work, which starts on Sunday, September 15 and is due to be completed by Sunday, October 13, will be delivered in junction-by-junction phases between 10pm and 5am each night or 7am at weekends over 31 nights.

Where possible, the work will be done with any closures restricted to lane and junction slip roads rather than full carriageway closures and the hard shoulder will be open to traffic instead with a 50mph speed limit in place. Slip road closures will involve signed diversions mainly using the motorway network.

The only full carriageway closure will involve the eastbound and westbound carriageways of the motorway between Switch Island and junction 1 with a diversion in between junction 1 of the motorway and junction 6 of the M57 using the A506.

Highways Agency project sponsor Jakub Malaj said: "This is an important project to tackle potholes and other issues across the whole length of the M58 and to ensure drivers can continue to enjoy safe, smooth and reliable journeys.

"We are not anticipating any significant delays and as the work is in phases many drivers may not even come across any roadworks at all – and if they do clearly-signed diversions will be in place."

TV screens and microwave meals – but strictly No Dogs!

BY the time you read this I should have returned from my latest trip on the rivers and broads of Norfolk and Suffolk.

But just before we set off on our holidays I was walking Tina and got to thinking of one big difference between the Broads area and here – the fact that down there I could take Tina into virtually any pub and be made welcome.

It's not that many years ago that dogs were welcome in most of the pubs around here, too. Now it's difficult to think of any.

I remember going into a pub in Norfolk with my then dog several years ago and commenting on how nice it was that dogs were allowed in.

The landlord said he had no objection to well-behaved dogs, pointing out that they didn't wreck the toilets or throw glasses.

“There's only one problem with dogs,” he said, and my heart sank. “They've got no bloody money!”

In the Broads area, of course, dogs are actually welcome partly BECAUSE of money. Many of their customers, whether on boats, in caravans or camping, are there because they have a dog (or dogs).

Naturally there are one or two snobby pubs that don't allow them, but oddly enough they are rarely the really best ones.

Now I don't censor any licensee who doesn't want to have dogs. It's his (or her) house, after all. What does annoy me is telling porkies to justify their decision.

“We do food so it's illegal to have dogs in here,” is a standard mantra.

Well, no it isn't – as any Norfolk pubkeeper will tell you. It is illegal to have animals in the area where food is prepared, NOT where it is eaten.

If they simply said: “People eating in here don't like to see dogs present so, sorry mate,” I'd understand and feel no animosity towards him or her.

I remember my dad's local 30-odd years ago, back in the time of Tina 2 (the present one is Tina 4.) At that time the dog often accompanied us to the pub, where Tina was a firm favourite – because of the establishment's door.

It was one of those heavy, revolving things that needed a hefty shove to get them going. Tina soon sussed this out and her party piece was to get into the nearest ‘compartment’ of the door, put up her front paws and push, travelling round to get in, or out.

Some of the clientele were so fascinated by this that Tina was sometimes in demand going out and then in again to amuse those who had never seen this feat.

In fact, looking back I can't think of a pub in my native Maghull which didn't allow dogs in my younger days. Even when food became all-pervasive, dogs were still allowed in the public bar.

Now, all the small rooms and nooks and crannies that marked so many of the pubs I knew and loved have gone, knocked into one huge open space with far fewer seats, five or six TV screens, microwaved pub grub – and no public bar (with public bar prices) of course.

I'm not even sure that folk aged over 25 are allowed in at all to some of them – but of one thing I am certain – No Dogs.

Campaign aims to help keep illegal tobacco off the borough's streets

SEFTON Council's Public Health is supporting Tobacco Free Futures (TFF) campaign to stub illegal tobacco out as they urge parents and carers to help keep it off the borough's streets.

It follows news that 13% of teenagers between 14 and 17 in the borough admit to smoking.

As part of the campaign parents are being warned that unscrupulous dealers are likely to be looking for teenage customers.

Sefton Council is backing this appeal for information as they have worked with TTF to reduce the size of the illegal tobacco market in Sefton since 2009.

Andrea Crossfield, Director of Tobacco Free Futures said:

"We need to ensure children don't end up as the customers.

"All smoking kills but illegal tobacco is an easy source of tobacco to get children hooked on an addiction that kills half of all smokers."

Councillor Paul Cummins, Sefton Council's Cabinet Member for Older People and Health, said: "Children and young people are always out and about with friends especially during school holidays and we need to ensure illegal tobacco sellers are not able to turn this into a business opportunity.

"We need to continue to work with other agencies and parents to stop our young people getting hooked on tobacco and destroying their health."

Sefton Council's Trading Standards were one of 23 local authorities to be part of the Young person's alcohol and tobacco survey 2013.

This year Sefton received 1,180 completed survey's which assesses the behaviour of 14 to 17-year-olds in the borough towards alcohol and tobacco.

Survey results also showed there has been a slight increase in the percentage of young smokers in Sefton getting cigarettes from off licences but falls in the percentage of buying from newsagents and supermarkets.

There were also falls recorded in the percentage of young people in Sefton claiming to buy 'illicit cigarettes'

WILLIAMSON SQUARE, LIVERPOOL CITY CENTRE

Liverpool among top cities in UK for keeping friends

Report by Ollie Cowan

LIVERPOOL is one of the UK's top ten cities for keeping strong friendships according to a recent report commissioned by Hallmark.

The Merseyside city was placed eighth in the poll, based on a number of factors including the average length of a friendship in the area and the number of people locals keep in their close social groups.

Other cities in the top ten included Belfast, Edinburgh and London. Manchester did not make the cut.

According to the research, time spent with friends is the most popular pick-me-up for people in Liverpool proving seven times more effective than pampering treatments, almost three times more effective than a holiday or a glass of wine and 16 times more effective than therapy.

The report also noted that the average Liverpool resident will spend at least four hours and 43 minutes each week catching up with their friends and will feel less stressed, stronger and more confident in themselves as a result.

However, 41 per cent of people know they could both lengthen and strengthen their relationships should they invest more. In fact the research shows that, rather than raging rows and sulky silences, a lack of regular catch ups is the most common cause for a friendship ending with the average local friendship lasting ten years and two months before it drifts apart.

Commenting on the findings, Relationship Expert Jenni Trent Hughes, said: "With the advances in technology and the rise of social media networks, I'm sure we can all count hundreds of 'friends' that we connect with nowadays and that's a great development.

"However, it's our close relationships that really give us that all important boost in our wellbeing.

"And it was interesting to see that we now often keep a group of close friends within that social circle – compared to the traditional model of just one best friend."

Royal Mail wants your Merchant Navy tales

THE Royal Mail is looking for the veterans and descendants of crews from Liverpool that sailed aboard Merchant Navy ships over the past 200 years.

The search anticipates the release of a new series of limited edition Merchant Navy stamps, which will go on sale this month.

Liverpool Merchant Navy veterans, or families whose ancestors served on the Merchant Navy's most famous ships, are invited to share their stories and to celebrate the heritage of Britain's civilian seafarers.

Around 35,000 British merchant navy sailors were killed during the Second World War alone – many of whom were from Liverpool – with thousands of vessels lost.

These ships made such a great contribution not just to Britain's prosperity, but also to its very survival with their invaluable assistance to the Allied war effort, bringing vital supplies in the face of great danger.

Andrew Hammond, director of stamps and collectables, Royal Mail said: "We are keen to hear from relatives of those who served on ships that sailed from 1813 to the 1980s – particularly those related to the heroes who sailed the merchant vessels during the Battle of the Atlantic and in the Arctic convoys, pitting themselves against German U-boats with the losses of many lives.

"As well as families, we would of course love to hear from surviving crew members themselves from the more recent Merchant Navy ships.

"The Battle of the Atlantic, which continued for the entirety of the Second World War, was key to Allied victory and the Merchant Navy's role can never be forgotten.

"Less celebrated – yet no less important – were the Arctic convoys, in which hundreds of Merchant Navy ships took part in dozens of treacherous missions between 1941 and 1945 to resupply troops on the Eastern Front. Stories of what life was like on board these ships need to be told so that future generations do not forget the significance of the role played by civilian shipping."

Once the stories are gathered, selected people will be invited to a reception aboard the Cutty Sark where they can share stories and hoist flags commemorating a number of the great Merchant Navy vessels.

It is hoped that surviving sailors who sailed aboard the bulk carrier The Lord Hinton in the 1980s – only 30 years ago – will make contact as well.

Those wishing to share their stories are requested to email merchantnavy@goldengoosepr.com, or call Miki on 07900 690 574. Descendants preferring to write in can do so to: Merchant Navy Campaign, Office 101, 145-147 Boston Road, Ealing, London, W7 3SA.

Contact details and the names of the ships that individuals or descendants served upon should be included.

Mystery over man found with head injuries

POLICE are yet to discover why a man was lying in the middle of a road in Fazakerley with serious head injuries.

The 62 year old local man was found in the early hours of Sunday morning (August 18) on Blackthorne Road before being rushed to Aintree Hospital in a critical condition.

Paramedics attended the scene after receiving a call at around 1.20am from a member of the public who had found the man unconscious in the road and was concerned for his safety.

Officers are still trying to ascertain how the man sustained his injuries and are appealing to anyone who was in the Blackthorne Road around that time to contact them.

A number of people were looking after the man when the ambulance service arrived and police would like to talk to them as they may have information which could be helpful to their inquiries.

Officers would also like to appeal to the man who made the call to the ambulance service to contact them. He passed his phone to a taxi driver to give more details and officers would like to talk to both of these men as they may also have some useful information.

Anyone with information can contact St Anne Street CID on 0151 777 4064.

because you're amazing

A 15-minute workout each day can make a such a difference

Still on my travels, I was sitting in the beach on Bali this week and the topic got around (as it always does) to diet and exercise.

My new traveller friends were all complaining of not having enough time or the right equipment or the energy to be able to do any exercise

This is a really common complaint and one that I hear almost daily both in the UK and everywhere I go. The truth is, it is really an excuse.

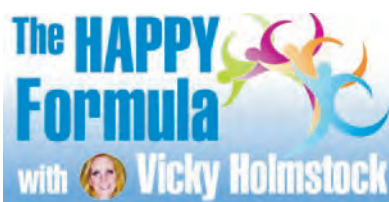

People who find time to exercise don't have longer days than the average person and often the fittest people we know are the ones who are the busiest at work.

The difference is they work smarter in terms of their exercise.

If you know you are going to feel tired and unmotivated to exercise after a long day then you need to schedule your exercise for the morning and vice versa if you are not a morning person.

The mistake most people make is in thinking they need to get to a gym and spend an hour or more pounding a treadmill for it to be worthwhile.

High Intensity Interval Training, known as HITT, is a highly effective method of exercising that can be completed at home or in a park with no equipment and in as little as 15 minutes whilst still giving a whole body workout.

You will be amazed at how much impact daily (or even every other day) 15 minute workouts can make to your body and energy as opposed to infrequent hour long visits to the gym.

Competition winner Maureen has been following the HITT training principle and this latest message from her is proof that it works.

"I feel much brighter and my energy levels are rising. My mobility is improving – I had difficulty getting up from the floor and this is getting easier.

"I have lost weight around my middle, another 4lbs. I am going to bed at around 10pm as suggested and feel better for it. It also means that I am getting up early enough to do things on the computer in quietness!"

I am so pleased for Maureen and there is absolutely no reason why any of you cannot be achieving the same.

Email vicky@yellowfitness.co.uk for a complete 15 minute workout.

It's a huge honour, say young students

THE Head Girl and Head Boy for St. Mary's College in Crosby have been announced for the next school year.

Head Girl Rosie Lee lives in Waterloo and is studying Geography, Religious Studies and PE at A-level.

As well as representing the college at hockey, rounders and athletics, she has devoted a lot of her time at St. Mary's to voluntary work, heading up the school's links with the Seel Street Mission for the homeless in Liverpool city centre.

She said: "It's a huge honour to be given the role of Head Girl and I am looking forward to introducing younger pupils to life at St. Mary's, and also getting more students involved in the important charity work that the Seel Street Mission is doing."

Meanwhile, Head Boy Krishna Ramkalawon from Orrell Park in Aintree will be taking four A-levels next summer in Chemistry, Physics, Biology and Maths.

Krishna, a talented singer and musician who plays with the Liverpool Philharmonic Youth Orchestra as well as being a member of various St. Mary's orchestras and choirs, is also a member of the school's senior rugby squad.

He is considering studying engineering or chemistry at university.

He said: "Rosie and I are really keen to connect with middle school pupils and to help them make the important transition to the sixth form."

Staff nominate around 30 pupils who they feel should be considered for the role of Head boy or Girl then staff and sixth form pupils cast

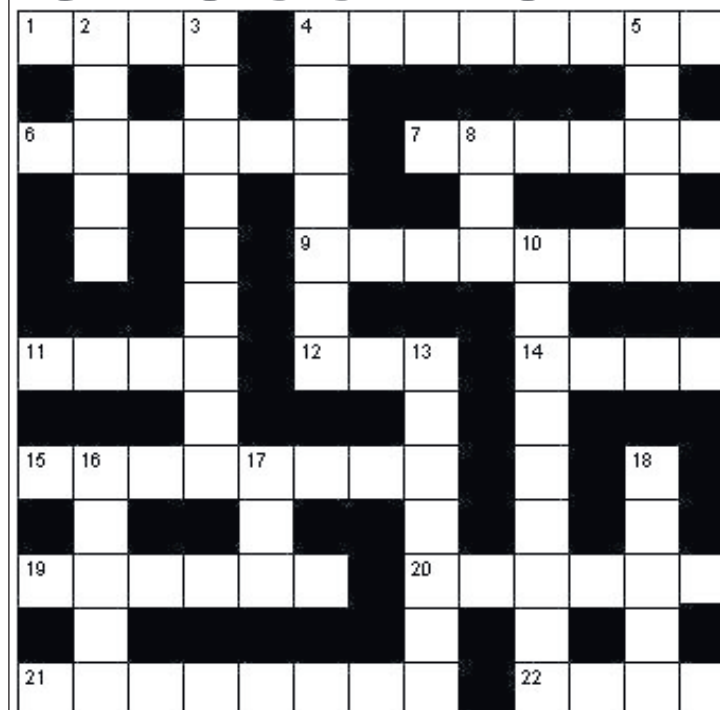

Krishna Ramkalawon and Rosie Lee
Code NA

their votes to produce a shortlist of eight, who are then interviewed by Principal Mike Kennedy and head of sixth form Carole Killen.

Mr Kennedy commented: "When we choose our Head Boy and Head Girl we look for a wide range of personal achievements and skills, and a proven track record of service to the college and the community as whole."

"Rosie and Krishna clearly have these attributes in abundance and I am sure they will be a credit to themselves, their families and the school as they fulfil these important roles over the coming months."

It's not Rollermania any more, but Les still excited by resort gig

by Ollie Cowan

BAY City Rollers frontman Les McKeown has opened up to the Champion about going back on tour with the chart-topping 1970s band as they prepare to perform at Southport Theatre.

The group behind the hit 'Bye Bye Baby' will head to the Promenade based theatre on September 20 to wow audiences with the very best hits from the 70s.

The band, which had number-one singles across the world including the US, Japan, Canada and Australia, enjoyed a string of nine UK top-10 hits from 1971 to 1976 including number one hits Bye Bye Baby and Give a Little Love.

Singer McKeown took time out of his busy rehearsals to chat with Champ reporter Ollie Cowan and said how excited he was to be playing in the resort again.

"We've been to Southport many times and always have a fantastic gig wherever we play. The reception is spot on and the fans are from all walks of life.

Les McKeown chatted to the Champion about the Roller's new tour

"It amazes me how you get many young and new fans coming along as well who know all the old classics.

"It just goes to show that we have an impression that travels through generations.

"That legacy is one of the many reasons I decided to go back on tour with the Rollers. The band has never been better and we're looking forward to coming to Southport.

The band started in Edinburgh, Scotland in 1966, and has seen numerous changes over the years, but the classic line-up during its heyday included McKeown, guitarists Eric Faulkner and Stuart Wood, bassist Alan Longmuir, and drummer Derek Longmuir.

The band, which inspired "Rollermania" in their fans, had four top-selling albums including number one albums Rollin' and Once Upon a Star, Wouldn't You Like it, which reached number three and Dedication which reached number-four.

Good news for the housing market

HOUSE prices appear to be on the up for the first time in five years and with the government doing what they can to help first time buyers, the housing market seems to have a rosy future.

Local independent mortgage advisers, Freshfield Mortgages, based in Formby celebrated their 10th birthday this month and can advise on all aspects of the house buying process.

Freshfield Mortgages works alongside local estate agents and solicitors providing independent advice from the whole of the market.

Paul Gardner, a self employed adviser who has been with the company nearly four years says: "There has never been a better time to purchase your first home or to look at re-mortgaging from your existing lender and with so many options available, it is more important than ever to speak to an independent advisor.

"There continues to be some excellent rates on offer, particularly for fixed rate mortgages and house prices too seem to be up with an average price of £170,825 across the UK, equating to an annual rise of 3.9%."

Paul added: "Here at Freshfield Mortgages, we are also receiving more enquires about the government Help To Buy Scheme.

"Under the first part of Help to Buy, applicable to new homes worth up to £600,000, buyers put down a five per cent deposit and receive a 20 per cent government equity loan, which is interest-free for five years.

"The second element of Help to Buy, set to launch in January, is a £130bn mortgage indemnity scheme for new and existing homes, where the Government guarantees up to 15 per cent of the purchase price, with the borrower putting down a deposit of between 5-15 per cent."

He added: "People may decide that it's time to move house, could require further funds for renovations that may add value (and improve quality of life) within their current property.

"Or quite simply, they may want to seek out a better deal than their current borrowing arrangements.

We need a quote to go in here only needs to be one relevant sentence etc

"We recognise that a lot of people probably lead a busy life and have little time for in-depth research, and managing the whole process themselves. That's why so many borrowers continue to turn to professional advisers to help them through what can still be a fairly complicated mortgage maze."

Paul is relatively new to the BNI group and is a member of the Platinum Chapter, who meet in the Pioneer Bar in Crosby every Friday morning.

He said: "I have been in BNI since November last year and wish I had joined sooner. "The chapter is made up of like-minded individuals who are there to generate more business.

"Since joining, I have had several referrals from fellow members that have turned to business that I would not otherwise have got.

"I would recommend any small or medium sized business to consider joining."

Training hotel aims to help students carve out careers

Some of the VIP guests at the launch of the L20 Hotel School were manager of the Doubletree by Hilton Hotel David Hughes, Pam Wilsher head of Economic Development at LEP, Hugh Baird principal Yana Williams, Mike Mountfield director of L20 Hotel School and Gordon Cartwright managing director of visionarydining.com Code1061808

Report by Holly Rummens

THE REGION'S first ever student training hotel has been unveiled this week in a bid to ramp up training standards available to the hospitality sector.

The L20 Hotel School has been designed by further education provider Hugh Baird College in Bootle to deliver quality chef and service staff to various establishments across the region.

All student training will take place in the newly built and refurbished bars, dining areas, restaurants and kitchens. Plans also include a conference centre, meeting and events area and retail space.

The vision for the L20 Hotel was driven by Hugh Baird College principal Yana Williams, L20 Hotel School director Mike Mounfield and Gordon Cartwright from hospitality consultants Visionarydining.com

Mike Mounfield, who is also a former chef with more than 25 years hospitality experience, said the L20 Hotel School is about becoming the supplier of choice for hospitality education and training at all levels.

He said: "We know the Visitor Economy is already growing rapidly and only going to get bigger and the demand for jobs will inevitably increase. However, to facilitate this growth, extensive and specialist training will be required. A key focus for us is to offer training for existing professionals."

Hugh Baird College principal Yana Williams said the L20 Hotel School captures the college's progressive outlook.

She said: "At Hugh Baird College we are constantly striving to deliver first class standards in education and training."

"A great deal of energy, passion and creativity has gone into developing our L20 Hotel School to enhance the learning experience for our students and industry professionals. The college will be opening its own high end restaurant at the end of September where we will employ full-time staff and apprentices to prepare and deliver food which represents world class dining."

There will also be a café operated by students, for students, reinforcing the employment and entrepreneurial skills required to be successful in the hospitality industry.

DoubleTree by Hilton Liverpool is one of the hotels dedicated to training students from the L20 Hotel School.

DoubleTree by Hilton Liverpool general manager David Hughes said: "We want our guests to have the best possible experience in terms of quality and service. The training and development provided will carve out careers for many young people – and DoubleTree by Hilton Liverpool is looking forward to being part of their future."

The L20 Hotel School is keen to hear from individuals wanting to start an apprenticeship in catering. For more information contact Mike Mounfield on 0151 353 4518 or email enquires@L20hotelschool.co.uk

BELLWAY HOMES HOLDS SUMMER SALE AT LINKS VIEW

Celebrating the arrival of the long awaited heat wave, Bellway Homes has launched a 'summer sale' at its luxurious Links View development, on Liverpool Road, in Ainsdale.

The housebuilder has reduced the price on three properties at Links View, offering superb savings of up to £30K.

The properties are each fabulous four bedroom homes with single garages, appealing particularly to families looking to move to a sought-after area of Southport.

The largest property in the summer sale is the Fielding, which reaches 1842 sq ft. Reduced from £379,995 to £349,995, Bellway Homes is saving homebuyers a staggering £30,000.

This traditional two storey double fronted home is a stunning property. It boasts a stylish kitchen and family room, complete with practical utility room. A formal dining room enjoys a bay window feature, ensuring an elegant space for entertaining. The lounge is a large, light luxurious room with bay window, perfect for relaxing evenings.

Taking the staircase to the first floor, the highlight of the property is the spacious master bedroom which enjoys a dressing room and en suite facilities, the ultimate retreat for parents. With three further double bedrooms and family bathroom, the property caters for all the needs of a growing family.

Other properties in the summer sale include the Oakwood, priced £249,995, reduced from £261,995 so providing purchasers savings of £12,000, and the Bronte, with a reduced price of £339,995, instead of £369,995.

Jenny Bell, sales director at Bellway Homes, comments: "The summer sale at Links View is a sensational opportunity for potential purchasers to buy at the luxurious development in Ainsdale.

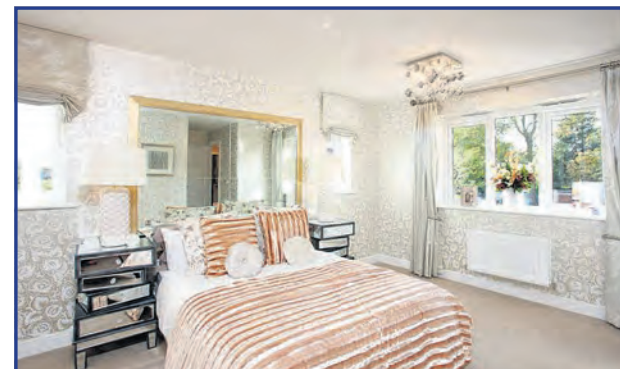

"The three properties are ready to move into, perfect for purchasers eager to move this summer. With savings of up to £30K on select properties, we are encouraging homebuyers in Southport, including those who have visited the development in the past, to visit Links View to take advantage of the reduced prices.

"It really is a wonderful chance to own an attractive family home in Ainsdale at a highly reduced price."

Links Views is a luxurious development comprising a stylish selection of three, four and five bedroom homes. Conveniently located on Liverpool Road in Ainsdale, Links View enjoys a charming village location with everyday amenities close by and just a short drive from Southport.

Our vision. Your future.

*Weekly amount calculated on a monthly mortgage repayment of £305.57 x 12 months = £3,666.84 ÷ 52 weeks = £70.52. Figures are calculated on a purchase price of £115,000 with a 20% equity loan provided by New City Vision [NCV]. £92,000 represents 80% of the full purchase price of £115,000. NCV do not provide or arrange mortgages. A typical example of a mortgage provided by an independent mortgage adviser, details of which can be provided on request: With a borrowing of £86,250 and a personal deposit of £5,750 on a mortgage repayable over a thirty five year period, the total payable, assuming no change in rates, would be £158,247. The mortgage would be on a fixed rate of 2.44% for the first 2 years. Overall cost for comparison APR is 4%. An early redemption charge of £2,690 is assumed in the first two years. The total fees for arranging the mortgage would be £724. Any mortgage would be subject to the terms and conditions of the Lender and the example given may not be suitable for everyone. Full details are available from the sales centre at the development. Prices correct at time of going to press. Atomic Kitten singer to appear in Rent

ATOMIC Kitten member Natasha Hamilton and Superstar runner up Rory Taylor are to star in the UK tour of the musical Rent.

Rent – 20th Anniversary Concert will be coming to The Auditorium at Echo Arena Liverpool on Saturday, November 30.

Commenting on the show Natasha Hamilton, who will be playing the role of lesbian performance artist Maureen; made famous by Idina Menzel, Nicole Sherzinger and Denise Van Outen said: "I love Rent so I am made up to be playing the role of Maureen! She's a great character a little bit cheeky, flirtatious and injects some real comedy moments into the show."

While Rory Taylor said: "I had the most amazing time on tour with Rent – 20th Anniversary Concert in April and I am so excited that the public want more! I can't wait to get back on the road and play the role of Roger again."

Natasha Hamilton is one third of Atomic Kitten, the UK's most internationally successful girl group of the last ten years with more than 10 million worldwide record sales.

She's also known as a TV personality, wife, mother and businesswoman. Natasha recently landed the lead role of Mrs Johnstone in the West End show Blood Brothers.

This year Natasha has embarked on the ITV2 show The Big Reunion as well.

Rory was runner up in Andrew Lloyd Webber's TV search for an actor, to play the role of Jesus in an arena tour of his hit musical Jesus Christ Superstar.

Set in the East Village of New York City, RENT is about falling in love, finding your voice and living for today. It is the winner of the Tony Award for Best Musical and the Pulitzer Prize for Drama. The musical is based loosely on Puccini's La Boheme, and follows a year in the life of a group of friends struggling to make it in the big city under the shadow of HIV/AIDS.

Rent includes songs Seasons of Love, Out Tonight, Without You, Will I and Finale B.

Rent last toured the UK in 2001 and was last in the West End in 2007.

A film of the musical was released in 2005 starring original Broadway cast members Idina Menzel and Adam Pascal.

The Broadway production closed on September 7, 2008 after a 12-year run of 5,124 performances, the ninth-longest-running Broadway show of all time.

Cabaret star shows her appreciation of North West theatre audiences

Report by Henry James

HOW Do You Solve a Problem Like Maria? finalist Siobhan Dillon, who is this week appearing in Cabaret at the Liverpool Empire, has spoken of her affection for theatre audiences in the north west.

Siobhan, 29, is playing Sally Bowles, the role made famous by Liza Minnelli in the 1972 Oscar-winning film, in the Kander and Ebb musical set in Berlin in 1931 just as the Nazis are rising to power.

Most of the action takes place in the Kit Kat Klub and the show tells the story of Sally, an English cabaret performer, who has a relationship with an American writer called Cliff Bradshaw.

Siobhan, who finished third in How Do You Solve a Problem Like Maria?, said: "I last appeared at the Liverpool Empire in 2008 in Can't Smile Without You with Chesney Hawkes."

"I loved the theatre and Liverpool and the audiences were appreciative. I have good memories of that time."

So what can audiences expect from this production? "It is an incredible musical, and still hard hitting," Siobhan responded. "The music is iconic, and hopefully the characters are iconic too. It is not for the faint hearted. Cabaret is definitely not all jazz hands, kicks and glamour."

"The musical opens at the lively Kit Kat Klub and by the end of it Berlin is firmly in the grips of the Nazis."

"I hope people will be moved by the show at curtain down."

Sally Bowles relies on Cliff for a place to stay and Siobhan describes the character as someone who "thinks she is destined for better things."

Liza Minnelli won the Oscar for Best Actress in a leading role for her portrayal of Sally, and Siobhan commented: "I think I would be lying if I said I wasn't influenced by Liza Minnelli, as her portrayal is so iconic. However, I think I am influenced more subconsciously because I put my own take on the role."

The show features some of the most famous songs in musical theatre, including: Money Makes the World Go Round, Two Ladies, Maybe This Time and, of course, Cabaret. When Siobhan was asked what her favourite song from the show was, she responded: "Maybe This time is a favourite. It is a beautiful song to sing."

Siobhan, who gave her first public performance at the age of nine, appears in the show with Will Young,

Siobhan Dillon as Sally Bowles
Code NA

who is the Emcee.

The singer has also starred in the West End and has played Molly Jensen in Ghost The Musical and Sandy in Grease.

After Cabaret she plans to travel to America and commented: "I am going to travel to LA in January to audition for different parts."

Power takes command of stage

- Lennon
- Royal Court Theatre, Liverpool – to September 14
- Wednesday, August 28
- Review by Jenny Robson

LOOKING eerily like the great man himself John Power took command of the stage portraying the older John Lennon in this mesmerising production.

He is a force to be reckoned with. Gone are the famous curls and instead there is straight hair gently brushing his shoulders. He even sounds like John Lennon!

The Beatles' music is wonderful. They really don't write songs like that these days.

And Bob Eaton has pulled out all the stops in directing the powerful performances of the hugely talented cast.

There is a semi-lit stage and a backdrop of black and white photos of a very young John and his family members adding pictorial strength to the story of this famous son of Liverpool, born on 9 October 1940.

Which other song could kick off the first half better than the chosen one ... My Life? From living with his beloved Aunt Mimi, forming The Quarry Men skiffle group, meeting Paul McCartney (an incredibly realistic portrayal of Paul by Tom Connor) at a parish fete, marrying Cynthia, the birth of Julian, meeting Brian Epstein and the Beatles' meteoric rise to fame – it is all there.

A roller-coaster of a life told with some of the most beautiful music and lyrics ever written.

A rousing rendition of Love Is All You Need brought the first half to a close as the stage came alive with psychedelic colours.

The arrival of Yoko Ono on the scene, the subsequent split of The Beatles and the returning of the MBE awards followed, culminating in that awful, terrible (there just aren't enough adjectives to describe it!) day in December 1980 when the fatal shots were fired.

IMAGINE we had never heard of John Winston Lennon. Well, we just can't! He was a genius.

Score: 9/10 – Powerful stuff! Love is all we need!

Sherlock Holmes comedy coming to town

Joe Pasquale

Code NA

THERE'S a beast on the moors, a crime to be solved, and with the Ha Ha team on the case – what can go right?!

The producers of the Ha Ha Holmes! The Hound of the Baskervilles have said audiences will be mad to miss this pipe-smoking new comedy show.

In the production Holmes and Watson embark on their most dangerous adventure yet ... hunting down The Hound of The Baskervilles.

Comedian Joe Pasquale takes on the role of Sherlock Holmes, writer Ben Langley as Doctor Watson and Andrew Fettes as everyone else.

Has the beast bitten off more than he can chew when confronted by our crime stopping team? Will Holmes find his deerstalker and will the deer be happy when he does? You are invited to stick some shag in your pipe and visit 221b Baker Street for this production.

Swapping spandex for Sherlock's famous deerstalker is Joe Pasquale who, having conquered the nation's hearts to be crowned Celebrity King of the Jungle in 2004's I'm a Celebrity, Get Me Out of Here returns to UK screens this January to battle it out in ITV's ratings-winner, Dancing on Ice.

The show will be staged at Southport Theatre on Friday, September 20 at 7.30pm.

PUBLIC NOTICES

HIGHWAYS AGENCY

ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984 - SECTION 14
THE A5036 TRUNK ROAD (WESTBOUND LINK ROAD FROM SWITCH ISLAND)
(TEMPORARY PROHIBITION OF TRAFFIC) ORDER 2013

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Secretary of State for Transport has made an Order on the A5036 Trunk Road in the Borough of Sefton in Merseyside to enable small works and routine maintenance works to be carried out in safety.

The works are expected to take place over a period starting at 2200 hours on Wednesday 11 September 2013 and ending at 0500 hours Tuesday 1 October 2013. However works may start between these dates or continue until completed.

The effect of the Order will be to ban all traffic from the link road leading to the A5036 Trunk Road Westbound from the A59 at Switch Island.

Traffic on the A59 wishing to access the A5036 westbound will be directed to join the A59 Northbound and travel to it's roundabout junction with the B5407 Liverpool Road then return southbound to Switch Island and continue onto the A5036 Trunk Road where the diversion will end.

The prohibition will apply only during such times and to such extent as will be indicated by traffic signs and will not apply to vehicles being used for emergency purposes by the police, fire and rescue or ambulance services, or to vehicles being used in connection with the works, or by traffic officers. The Order comes into force on 10 September 2013 and has a maximum duration of eighteen months.

The Agency contact for any further information about this notice is Ian Claridge. Telephone No: 0161 930 5923.

Audi's tailgator brigade ruin our roads

A familiar sight in rear view mirrors

DID you hear about the new species scientists discovered the other day? Apparently, there's a new type of shark, which has emerged in a remote spot of sea just off Indonesia, which 'walks' along the ocean floor.

In the interests of science, I'd like to put it to the boffins at the Natural History Museum that I've found its motoring equivalent, right here in the UK.

The Greater Spotted Tailgater, or Secuutus Major to give it its scientific Latin name, has existed for decades in the warm, inviting habitat of motorway outside lanes for generations, but it's only in the past few years that a new variation of this most annoying of motoring breeds has evolved.

Specifically, the Greater Spotted Tailgaters who drive Audis.

My late granddad had a 100 Avant and it really was the epitome of respectable middle classness, a useful, family-friendly estate without the antique dealer connotations of its Volvo and Mercedes contemporaries.

At that time, the Greater Spotted Tailgater's wheels of choice were 3 Series and 5 Series BMWs, and you knew when you saw the Munich motors' quad headlights flashing at you from behind that you were incurring their wrath.

Things, however, have changed, and I blame the Audi TT.

Ever since the gorgeously swoopy coupe started gracing the showrooms 15 years ago, the rest of the range has basked in the glow from its chrome detailing and become a bit cooler as a result, bit by bit attracting the sort of people who used to buy BMWs.

The figures speak for themselves; in the past year alone, Audi sales are up by almost 10%.

The sales rises, combined with ever sharper and more aggressive styling updates, means something that's struck me every time I've ventured out onto a motorway's outside lane in the past two years – almost immediately you are swamped by tailgaters in cars with four rings on their radiator grilles.

Don't get me wrong; there are still lots of nice people happily trundling to the shops and back in their Audis, in the same way it was wrong to label every BMW owner as a lane-hogging loon ten years ago.

Yet the tailgating brigade have, by and large, taken up Audis as their wheels of choice, and the range is a bit less on my motoring radar as a result.

The only truly cool Audi you can buy now, I'd contend, is the A7 because it's not a big seller. Which means Mr and Mrs Tailgater don't tend to wind people up with them.

If I had a pound for every time an Audi-driving middle management type has sat two feet off my back bumper, I'd have roughly £13,790 by now.

Which, incidentally, is the entry level price for an A1.

Mariners draw a blank

Barwell 2
Marine 0

IN an insipid affair the Mariners were unable to muster an effort on target all afternoon, the home side being well organised and taking the points with headed goals from crosses on 17 and 84 minutes.

Marine keeper Callum Williams kept the home side at bay with several good saves in the first half, his flying stop to claw away Luke Barlone's strong shot the pick of the bunch.

Danny Newton found space to fire in a snap shot which Williams parried but it wasn't a shock when Newton put Barwell ahead, meeting a deep cross from the right to squeeze a header just inside an upright.

Paul Landon had to intervene to head another Newton effort off the line with Williams again pulling off another fine save, this time to keep out bustling striker Barlone's effort as he went through on goal.

Dean Astbury responded with a shot over the top before Joe Fowler had a free kick just before the half time whistle, but being unable to force Castle to make a save.

In the second half there was a dearth of chances at either end, Barwell sealing the points late on when Barlone beat the offside flag to cross, and Richard Lavery headed into the far corner of the net.

Northern just ten points from clinching the title

IN the 2013 Liverpool & District Competition, Premier Division, Northern require ten points to clinch the title after a 78 run home win over bottom placed Hightown, where a John Wildman century (115), 39 from Davy Smith and an unbeaten 38 from Mark Walling allowed the hosts to declare on 220-3. In reply 5-45 from Tom Sephton (57 for the season) and 4-34 from Stephen Cole (59 for the season) helped dismiss Hightown for 142 with Guy Edwards (51) top scoring.

Ormskirk remain second after a high scoring six wicket home win over Maghull, after deciding to bat first the visitors put 267-7 dec up on the board off 60 overs, with Donavon Pell top scoring with 148 whilst Chris Tonge weighed in with 37, with the pick of the bowlers being Martyn Farrell who took 6-69. In reply 4-84 from Ryan Swiers wasn't quite enough, as an unbeaten 103 from keeper Gary Knight and an undefeated 77 from John Armstrong saw the hosts romp to victory on 268-4 in just 43 overs.

Firwood Bootle enjoyed an emphatic win over New Brighton at Wadham Road. Openers Matthew Thompson and Tom Carr (46) raised 109 for the first wicket. The former hit 61 before being caught behind off the South African Cornelius De Villiers.

The innings concluded with an unbroken stand of 76 between Jordan

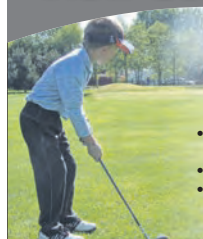

Evans (59) and Will Purser (47) when the declaration came with 245-3 after 52 overs.

Purser soon got to work with the ball, knocking over New Brighton's top three. No visiting batsmen could get properly established as wickets fell with regularity, and when the last 20 overs began the visitors side needed 153 to win with only two wickets left.

Mark Hale (43 not out) and Joe Clarke defiantly added 50 together, but once Chris Cunningham was introduced into the attack he quickly mopped up those last two wickets to end the New Brighton innings at 137. Purser finished with figures of 7-59.

On Saturday Bootle host Southport & Birkdale with a noon start.

Bucks ease through to next round of FA Cup

Bootle 4 Barton Town OB 1

Bootle progressed through the Preliminary Round of the FA Cup with this convincing victory and now face Evo-Stik Premier League outfit Workop Town in the First Qualifying Round. The wind seemed to have as much affect on the game as either teams, a fairly even first half brought to life after 42 minutes when a spectacular long range Mark Kilroy shot put the Bucks ahead.

The lead was short lived as the visitors drew level direct from a free kick right on the stroke of half-time. The second half saw Bootle dominate and on 69 minutes James Riley put the Bucks in the lead. James Riley increased the lead, and on 90 minutes Billy Smart scored his second in as many games continuing his impressive progression from the youth team.

Bootle return to league action on Saturday when they visit Silsden.
